Chris Mayne

Spotlight on Birds of Southern California and Various Places

Wednesday, Nov. 16 at 6:30 p.m.

Hello Folks! Don't miss the last general meeting of 2016 and the outstanding bird photography of Chris Mayne!

Mayne's presentation will focus mostly on our local San Diego County birds, highlighting their feeding habits and behaviors. Shore birds, Raptors, and local species, found in their native habitats will be featured.

Chris started photographing surfing along the coast in San Diego about 10 years ago. As birds would fly by, he'd attempt to snap their image. It has grown from there into a passion for capturing the beauty and magnificence of as many species as possible, locally and in his travels around the world.

He loves to share his images with other bird enthusiasts through his newsletter, Birds of the Week. You can subscribe by sending your email to him at: chrismayne27@gmail.com.

You can also see recent and archived posts of Birds of the Week on Facebook, by searching Chris Mayne Avian Photography. You can follow the link on the posts, and subscribe directly as well.

Don't Forget! This month's meeting is one week earlier than normal because of the Thanksgiving Holiday. There will be NO DECEMBER MEETING.

President's Corner

by Steve Schlesinger & Kathy Nash

For the past four years, we have had the privilege of sharing the duties of the President of the North County Photographic Society. During our tenure the club has continued its many activities including our speakers, photo shoots, club show, member share, student judging at the San Diego County Fair and others. The club runs smoothly due to its many dedicated volunteers. They make the club what it is. During this time we have gotten to know many club members. And we wish we could remember everyone's name! We are stepping down as of the end of the year. We encourage any club members that might like to lead the club as President to contact the leadership team (vlt@nc-photo.org).

'Texture'

Texture is a visual cue that helps your viewer get into your photograph. Texture is often considered to be rough, but it can be smooth too, like the glassy surface of calm water. With deeper meaning texture can also be descriptive for the story your photograph tells; their rough life, his gritty personality, her hard existence, a soft place.

Focus on the grit and smoothness of your world this month. Texture is part of the essence of a thing or place. From rough tree bark to a soft feather and the imagined feel of clouds, spend some time with your camera making an image or two where texture communicates for the image.

"Photography is a reality so subtle that it becomes more real than reality." - Alfred Stieglitz

"The texture of experience is prior to everything else." - Willem De Kooning

Helpful Techniques: Experiment with different angles, light and subject distance to get contrasting elements, and keep shooting with every move. Don't forget to re-acquire correct focus before releasing the shutter. You never know which one of your images will turn out to be best on your monitor at home.

What story or vision will you share?

Pelican Shoot at La Jolla Cove

Date: Sunday, January 8, 2017

Time: 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m.

Location: 1325 Coast Boulevard, La Jolla

We will continue our New Year's tradition of starting off our 2017 photo shoots with a visit to the pelicans of La Jolla Cove. This time of year the birds are normally near peak breeding colors. We'll meet at 8:00 a.m. at the overlook near the La Jolla Cave Store, about the same time sunlight (when available) will light up our subjects. Photographers from all over the world come here for the easy access to the pelicans. Bring your tripod and your biggest lens. Afterwards we'll gather for breakfast at The Living Room on Prospect St. Finally, we'll visit a few of the local photo galleries, including the Thomas Mangelsen Gallery. For any questions contact Dan Nougier at photoshoots@nc-photo.org or cell 619-884-1359.

Attention All Nature Photographers!

Our club will start taking entries in January or early February for the 2017 George W. Glennie Memorial Nature Salon. This is an international contest for photo clubs where each club is allowed to enter no more than 10 images. Check out the slide show on their web site at <http://bit.ly/1pVL3QI> to see some truly fabulous nature photos. Look for more details concerning contest entries in the January newsletter. Until then, start looking thru your 2016 nature shots. Or better yet, get out there and take some more fabulous nature photographs while there's still time.

Hugh Cox “How Did You Get That Shot”

“My wife, Martha, was seated in open shade on our patio showing great-granddaughter, Zoey, pictures of animals in ZooNooz. Without saying a word I moved around to get a close-up of her face with a reasonable background. Zoey is used to having pictures taken and paid no attention to my clicking away. The open magazine acted as a reflector to add light to her face, which was a gift. I used a full-frame DSLR with a 28-135mm f/3.5-5.6 lens

(in this case, at 65mm). An ISO of 400 and an aperture of f/4.5 gave me a shutter speed of 1/750 sec. I used auto white balance, shot in jpeg, and employed auto bracketing (-1/3, 0, +1/3), the latter something I do when I want the best exposure out of the camera. I am not a RAW shooter. Editing was done in Adobe Photoshop Elements 10. I had two services print the image and framed the one I liked best.” - Hugh

September Photo Shoot Wrap-up by Dan Nougier

On Sept. 17, we braved our way along the L.A. freeways to the Petersen Automotive Museum in northwest Los Angeles. The museum was well worth the trip. They have three floors filled with the most fabulous (and strange) cars you can imagine, everything from Formula 1 race cars to one-of-a-kind vintage sport cars. All the cars were definitely museum quality, profes-

Member Spotlight

Terry Goan

I grew up in Presque Isle, a small town of 17,000 in the far northern part of Maine known for growing potatoes. I became interested in photography while serving in the Army in Germany. My first camera was a Rolliflex, a twin lens reflex and later a Nikkormat. I desperately wanted to go to Brooks Institute but by that time I had a wife and child to support so I opted for a New York Institute of Photography course.

I spent the next 35 years in the Real Estate Business but continued my passion of photographing anything and everything. When I retired ten years ago a buddy of mine asked me to photograph his wedding. I threw myself into the Kelby Training course for wedding photography and thoroughly enjoyed photographing twenty six weddings.

Today I enjoy all sorts of photography from wildlife to landscape but people are my passion. I feel so lucky to have traveled to Europe, China, South America, New Zealand, as well as the United States with such varied subject matter. I spend my summers with Hedy on a small island in Georgian Bay with some of the most beautiful landscapes.

NCPS APP

The NCPS iPhone app is currently being updated. This version still works, but is no longer available from Apple. A new version (courtesy of Grant Hulbert) is in progress and will be available in the near future. Everyone currently using the app will automatically get the new one once it's published.

NCPS Kick Off Party!

Saturday, January 28, 2017

Hennessey's Tavern, 2777 Roosevelt St., Carlsbad

From 3:00 - 5:00 p.m. on the back patio

It works like this: Bring an image. Give it to Ted Whirledge at the Kickoff Party to receive a pair of tickets. Put your name on one ticket and into a bowl and keep the other one.

During the party all the photos will be available for viewing. At some point the tickets will be drawn. Matching tickets will allow the holder to choose any photo. The next person is allowed to take any photo, including any photo that has only been picked one time. That means once a person has taken a photo, it may be taken again by someone else, only once though. After that, it is a "Kicker" and retired from the available photos. If the photo you picked is picked again by someone else, you get to choose another right away.

Guidelines for Photographs: Open Style / Subject, family appropriate, unsigned, matted or not, with a suggested 8" minimum short side, and no wrapping.

Member Galleries

By Kathy Nash

This is a friendly reminder to use the member galleries that are available to us all on the NCPS website at www.nc-photo.org. This is a very nice benefit of being a member of the North County Photographic Society. It gives us a chance to get our work online for others to see and it is so easy to create a gallery or to upload photos for a new gallery.

Take a few minutes this next month and refresh your look in the member galleries. Upload some of your favorites from 2016. Just log in to our website, go to your gallery, and click on "create gallery" and "upload".

Barbara Swanson I have enjoyed creating and sharing images for many years. I am especially drawn to photographing nature, ranging from capturing the detail and beauty of flowers to landscapes. I use both digital and film formats and only minimally alter my photos in the digital darkroom.

By Kathy Nash

On Saturday, October 22, our club attended a photo shoot lead by Steve Cirone. We spent 2 hours shooting ducks from all kinds of angles and in many different situations. It was fun! It is the beginning of the duck season here in San Diego. Steve told us to get low to the water to shoot them straight on. He recommended a lens like 100-400, manual exposure mode, f 5.6, ISO as high as we dared, and shutter speeds around 1/2000. If I did what he said, I got really good photos of ducks! Thank you, Steve!

Please thank our sponsors for supporting the annual Member Show.

Stop by their business and tell them you're an NCPS member!
